Kuehne + Nagel adopts IAS Dispatch system

By editor on Nov 30, 2011

Kuehne + Nagel has adopted IAS Dispatch to enhance operational performance and customer visibility across its North American intermodal container haulage activities.

Part of the International Asset Systems (IAS) portfolio of collaborative cloud solutions for global container transport and logistics, IAS Dispatch automates the process of placing and tracking container haulage work orders and directly connects users with their motor carrier communities via the web.

After a 30-day implementation phase, Kuehne + Nagel went live with IAS Dispatch this September. The group has already rolled the technology out with more than 100 trucking companies in the US and is continuing to connect additional haulage partners to the system. Future expansion is also anticipated in Canada and possibly other parts of the Americas.

The IAS web solution, replacing a manual operation, is fully integrated with Kuehne + Nagel's transport management system and optimisation engine.

Kuehne + Nagel said that a key driver for adoption of the new technology was to gain true last mile visibility, both to provide customers with trusted information on actual shipment pick-up and delivery times and for internal analysis to pinpoint efficiency gains. Last mile data from IAS Dispatch is now being used by Kuehne + Nagel to keep clients fully updated on transport schedules, and is also being fed into the company's optimisation engine to evaluate opportunities for further operational and service improvement.

"IAS has the largest intermodal haulage network in North America, a great relationship with the North American trucking community, and a solution that was able to quickly and easily integrate into Kuehne + Nagel's back-end systems," said Brian Shultz, SVP Sales and Marketing for IAS. "We are thrilled to welcome such a prestigious global logistics provider as our newest client and to have completed one of our fastest deployments ever on such a project."

Each woman has their own

Each woman has their own favorite brand, but also have their own favorite bag. As a fashionable woman, my favorite brand is Marc by Marc Jacobs. My most popular bag is Marc Jacobs bags and Marc by Marc Jacobs Bags. Have to say is that whenever my back Marc Jacobs Handbags, makes me confident. Whenever I took the Marc by Marc Jacobs Handbags, I will be the focus. In fact, Marc Jacobs Dress is also very worthy of your consideration.
